Helping you give wisely to charity.

The mission categories below list charities which get high grades from AIP for putting 75% or more towards program cost while generally spending $25 or less to raise $100. These groups also receive an "open book" credit from AIP for willingly sending the financial documents we request.

AIP also issues "C", "D", and "F" grades to charities in its Charity Rating Guide.

This list is subject to change depending on the information AIP receives concerning charitable organizations. As long as the charities maintain an "open book" status and score highly on AIP's financial criteria, their names will appear on this list.

AIP encourages each donor to consider these factors and others, which you may feel are more significant, when making charitable giving decisions. AIP provides this information to help you make your own decision concerning which charity to support. The letter grades represent the opinion of AIP. Some organizations legitimately may account differently for their activities. Such organizations generally would receive higher grades based on their own criteria than on the criteria used by AIP.

When information is given only on the national headquarters and the charity does not include its affiliates in its financial statements, "N.O." (National Office) appears after the group's name.

Because many factors determine a worthy charity, we at the AIP suggest that you use the ratings on this page not as the sole determining factor in your decision, but rather as an aid. The Charity Rating Guide provides much more information that will aid you in your giving decisions. Also, contact the charity in which you're interested to determine if their mission and philosophy match yours.
